

“What a beautiful, smooth, bright, lively Pinot... the bouquet exhibits an array of classic Russian River aromas; white pepper, cinnamon, sarsaparilla, strawberry, bay leaf, cola, sweet violets and black cherry. The mouthfeel is full round and substantial with fantastic balance and a softness like crushed velvet. On the palate we get a deep, dark, rich, super lush, sensual texture and flavors of juicy fruit, cherry tart, strawberry and a bit of orange zest. The finish is very long and graceful.” — Scott Rich, Winemaker

San Francisco Chronicle WINE COMPETITION

LARGEST COMPETITION OF NORTH AMERICAN WINES

The San Francisco Chronicle Wine Competition is the largest wine contest of solely American wines in the world. After receiving over 7,000 entries from across the country and utilizing an extensive process that divides the varietals into several categories and subcategories, thousands of wines were narrowed down to an exclusive few.
